Pastor Kent

*"He who testifies to these things says,
"Surely I am coming soon." Amen.
Come, Lord Jesus!"*
(Revelation 22:20 ESV)

The season of Advent is now upon us. And, as most of you know, it's a season of anticipation, as we look forward to our celebration of Christ's birth. But, at the same time, it's a season of expectation as we await his return.

Throughout the Old Testament, God had spoken to his people of the coming Savior. And these promises caused them to live in anticipation. They lived from day to day, watching and hoping for the Savior's arrival.

We see this with the ministry of John the Baptist, and also as the ministry of Jesus took shape. We see that the people were questioning if this was it. They wondered, initially, if John was the Christ (something that he dismissed). They also wondered, rightfully so, if Jesus was the promised Savior.

For us, the coming of the Savior is something that happened in the past. It's this that we celebrate at Christmas. We remember the Son of God, conceived in the womb of the Virgin Mary, who was born into the world.

We remember that he was born into this world that he might save us from our sin. He came that he might give his life on the cross on our behalf. He came that, through faith in him, we might receive the blessing of life everlasting.

And here's where our season of anticipation comes in. Although Jesus has come, we know that he's coming again. We see this in the above verse. So, like the Israelites of the past, we live lives of watchful anticipation, longing for his arrival.

We long for his arrival because, even though the end will be a dreadful time, it means deliverance from this world of sin and death. It means the final judgment, when the people of God will be separated from those who are condemned. And it means that we'll be transformed so that sin and its consequences will become a thing of the past.

Even though most of us like our lives in this world, for the most part, and are reluctant to leave them behind, this is something worth anticipating. It's worth our hopeful expectation. As the old spiritual declares: "Soon and very soon, we are going to see the King!"

Youth

Seeing past the flame

Some of the best advice that I got when I came here was from a friend that is a pastor and had gotten his start in ministry in youth ministry. He told me, “Just take it one day at a time, because any more than that and your brain will implode right after your calendar does.” I have no doubt that he was speaking from experience, and I now know what he means. It’s times that I feel like this that I turn (or God turns me) to scripture for life and encouragement.

Lately I have been looking at 1 Corinthians and how Paul talked to and mentored the people from Corinth. Gently but firmly holding their hand through their infancy with Christ. I find a particularly high amount of encouragement in 1 Corinthians 3:13. Paul writes, “13 each one's work will become manifest, for the Day will disclose it, because it will be revealed by fire, and the fire will test what sort of work each one has done. 14 If the work that anyone has built on the foundation survives, he will receive a reward. 15 If anyone's work is burned up, he will suffer loss, though he himself will be saved, but only as through fire.”

Now I know what you might be thinking, “...that was the most un-encouraging verse ever, I can’t see anything let alone encouragement through all that “Fire”. I know you may be saying that because that’s exactly what Darcee said :). But that’s now how I look at it.

In this life, we all have our own “fires”. Whether that is a rough job, a hard homelife, hurtful family, or just too much going on at once, it all can seem like a fire when walking through it. However, if we look at the passage quoted above, yes, the fire is hard, but it is necessary. If there was no fire, how could we know the efficiency of our work? It is the fire that lets us know if we are doing what we should be for God. If my job was never long, hard, or difficult, I would just be doing the same thing every day thinking I was doing the best I could be, until something bad happened then I would have no idea what to do because I had never had to deal with “fire” before. Likewise, if I never disagreed with my wife or I never had hard times in my marriage, then we would never grow. I wouldn’t know how I could better bless her as her husband or how she can be a blessing to me because there would be nothing to test us. And if anything bad or hard came along in our marriage I wouldn’t know how to deal with it because I never tried or had to before.

God allows hard things to happen not only to draw us back to Him, but to let us know how we are doing, as his disciples and let the world see how he has affected and blessed us when we walk through the fire, maybe a little out of breath, but unsinged.

In his Grace,
Seth Larson

COUNCIL HIGHLIGHTS

President’s Report – Delton Schnaidt

One constant in our lives that we can count on each and every day of every season is that Jesus died for our sins....., and THAT will never change. Through the power of the Holy Spirit, He gave us a guide to live by in the Words of the Holy Bible. He serves us - that we might serve others. He serves us today, by providing for us our needs, and blesses us with gifts to share and serve others. Whether we are a new believer or a seasoned believer, He has already paid the price for us to be with Him in Heaven someday after we take our last breath in this world

Deacon’s Report – Kevin Lee

Thoughts for spring Spiritual Life meetings continued with Pastor Nyman or Pastor Carr from Tioga brought up as possible speakers. Possible topic of Reinforcing the basics of the Christian faith, such as is taught in confirmation, and then seemingly not addressed specifically again.

Sunday School has also been going well. Last lesson was an overview of the life of Jesus from the gospel of Luke.

Our Wednesday night Bible study has worked through seven chapters of Hebrews. We are progressing quickly. When we complete Hebrews, Pastor is thinking about doing a study over the Pastoral Epistles (1 & 2 Timothy and Titus). The Deacons approved this.

The Community Thanksgiving Worship service will be held at New Life on Sunday, Nov. 18th. Our Thanksgiving Worship will be held on Wednesday, November 21st. Pastor was asked about serving communion for our Thanksgiving service. A pie social normally follows the service. The Deacons thought this would be a good idea.

Pastor Tom and Pastor Kent sent a renewed request for an intern for 2019. Pastor was told by the dean, this summer, that he would guarantee us an intern. So, Pastor is fully expecting one to be assigned to us.

Trustee's Report – Les Buchmann

By the end of Friday, the warehouse furnace will be functioning on propane. Legend Air changed the setting on the Fellowship Hall furnace. The pedestals on the roof have been covered with flashing and sealed instead of being removed. Settings/programming for the furnaces will be given to key people. The furnaces will have Wi-Fi capabilities. We will need to do something with the insulation of the Fellowship Hall ceiling. We may need to put foamboard up to keep eventually insulation up and seal it up. We will need to check on the cost of that.

Christian Ed Report – Michelle Klaudt

Sunday School: Off to a great start. For the upcoming Christmas program Pre & K will do a segment of their own, grades 3-5 may do a narration, and 1 & 2 we are not sure yet.

Youth Committee: Movie night at Seth's apt went well. Talking about a possible lock-in before Christmas. Went to Up Close campus days at AFLBS with Seth, Becca, Rachel Sperry, Blake Martin, and Rebecah Martin.

OLD BUSINESS

Church keyboard – we have been trying out a new keyboard and several pianists have said they liked it. We will pay the bill and keep the one that we are trying out.

NEW BUSINESS

Use of Fellowship Hall for FMSC – We decided to not have our fellowship hall available for the 2019 Mobile Pack to give our members a break

2019 budget – Approved the proposed budget.

Fellowship hall ceiling – we will need to do work to hold insulation up into the ceiling. Discussed replacing the ceiling panels, grid and new LED lights. Les Buchmann will work on some prices before the annual meeting.

Tithe –Tithe: $1,135.34 to AFLC Evangelism, $1,135.34 to AFLC Home Missions and $300 to Lacey Wenning's Asia mission trip.
